Making The Most Of Life Without Losing ... - watch the thermometer. alcohol boils at a temperature lower than water. that's what makes distillation work. exact temperature will vary depending on elevation and barometric pressure, but water boils at around 212 Â°F while ethanol boils at around 173 Â°F. methanol, that can make you blind and is what you really want to avoid, boils around 148 Â°F.

Moonshine Still - Distillation is actually the last step in the process of making moonshine. In the first part of the process, moonshiners essentially make a low proof beer, which gets distilled later. Here are all of the steps one needs to complete in order to make their own moonshine: Make a mash using grains (such as corn) or sugar.
Ferment the mash by adding
